Dr. R. W. Brodom's Feneral.

The funeral of this most estimable gentlemer, who died suddenly of heart-disease Thursday night, took place from his late residence, Eleventh and Decatur streets, Manchester, at 9 A. M. yesterday. The large crowd in attendance, composed of people of every class, profession, and calling, attest the esteem in which deceased was held. Rev. William H. Christian, of the Central Methodist church, preached the funeral scruwn, and anounced as his the funeral sermon, and anounced as his text Genesis xlii., 36; "Joseph is not, Simeon is net, and ye will take away Ben-min; all these things are against me."

Mr. Christian, as usual on such occasions, Mr. Christian, as usual on such occasions, preached a feeling sermon, which was highly enlogistic of the deceased. After the sermon the remains were taken to the Petersburg train and earlied thence to Petersburg and laid to rest in that beautiful "city of the dead" Blandford cemetery. A number of persons from Manchester accompanied the dead" Blandford cemetery. A number of persons from Manchester accompanied the body to Petersburg, among them Messrs. James F. Bradley and B. F. Pilson, members of the City Council; John O'Brien. E. W. Weisiger, and Judge Clopton, members of the Masonic craft; George W. Tolby, A. Knorr, O. O. Merritt, and M. R. Levid from the Order of Chosen Friends; by, A. Knorr, O. O. Merritt, and M. R. Lloyd, from the Order of Chosen Friends; Judge French, and Gus. Meredith, Esq. The funeral party was met at the depot in Petersburg by Blandford Lodge of Masons and a detachment from the Order of Chosen Friends. After reaching the cemetry the burial service of the Order of Chosen Friends was read, and then followed the Masonic burial ceremonics. The sad party returned to Manchester in the afternoon.

A meeting of the joint committee appointed from the two city branches to make arrangements for the holding of a public meeting in Richmond to express sympathy with Parnell and Gladstone in their efforts for home-rule was held in Cathedral Hall Friday evening last at 5 o'clock. J. L. Capston was chosen chairman. The question was fully discussed, and it was decaded that in view of the coming election in Ireland, &c., &c., it would not be advisable at this time to hold a meeting. The committee adjourned to meet again at the call of the chairman.

A meeting of the Board of Supervisors of Henrico county was held at the court-house yesterday. The question of having a smallpox hospital on the Morris farm, recently bought by the city, was discussed, and the Board decided to decime the proposition. Routine business was transacted, after which the Board adjourned.

The County Court meets Monday. There are reveral cases to come before the special grand jury summoned for this term.

The Bredging Vessels. Some weeks ago three Maryland boats were captured in the Virginia waters charged with illegal dredging. They were put up at public auction at the court-house of one of the lower counties, and were bought in by the Board on the Chesapeake and its Tributeries, and a few weeks ago were brought to the port of Richmond. Since the vessels have been in Richmond their owners have been here and offered to buy them back, but the Board has not decided whether to accept the proposition. Mr. Foster, captain of the vessel which captured these three, will be in Norfolk tomorrow or Tuesday, and will be requested by Governor Lee to come to Richmond and confer with the Board, after which the latter will determine as to allowing the owners of the vessels to have them back. There is some talk that the Board will keep two of the vessels at least, to be used in the oyster business.

A Talk About the Annual Regatta a

"Will the Richmond crew win at the regatta next month?" was asked a prominent Virginia-Boat-Club man yesterday.
"Will the Richmond crew win?" he echoed. "Well, if pluck, determination, and earnest preparation are worth anything, it will. A crew of our Club won the race at the last regatta, and we want to win this year."

Mr. R. A. Baldwin, of Curdsville, Buckingham county, had his mill and all its contents burned about a year ago by some incendiary. About three weeks ago he had his mill burned the second time. He then came down here and employed Detective

John Wren to investigate the case. Mr. Wren sent one of his operators to Buckinghata, who worked on the case for nine or ten Gavs. Yesterday Detective Wren received the following telegram: "Arrested three parties, who had an examination today and were sent on the July term of the County Court."

Richmond College Commencement.

The programme for commencement exercises at Richmond College June 20th to 24th is unusually attractive this year. It includes a baccalaureate sermon by one of the strongest men in the southern pulpit, Dr. H. H. Tucker, of Atlanta; orations before the societies by their chosen representatives. Messrs. Edwards of South Carolina, Haicher of Richmond, Dickinson of Louisa, and Martin of Pittsylvania; a literary address by one of the foremost platform speakers in all the land, Dr. G. C. Lorimer, of Chicavo; an alumni oration by the vigorous and brilliant Rev. W. C. citting, of New York, and a poem by one of Richmond's rusing lawyers, George Brysn, Esq.; last and best, the awarding of well-carned honors and conferring of degrees upon the longest list of Bachelors and Masters of Arts the institution has ever sent forth.

The Committee on Grounds and Build-ings have two proposals for erecting the City Hall—one for $369,000, the other for $415,000. Both are from non-residents, but both contemplate the use of Richmond granite, it is understood. These bids, together with the views of the committee as to the best policy now to be pursued with reference to the erection of the City Hall, will be laid before the Board of Aldermen at its meeting to b Board of American as its insecting to be led to morrow evening. It is, however, not likely that either branch of the present Council will feel called upon to take any action in the premises, the majority of the new Council having been elected upon the distinct platform that the building should be erected at once, and as far as

St. Leus, June 12.—George Woodfordo-day filed in the United States Circuit Court against Jay Gould a suit for $500,000 for breach of contract. While the St. Louis and San Francisco road was buying its way into St. Louis Woodford, who owned some firm-land on the line, objected to the pric the road offered. His property was cot demned. Litigation ensued, during the course of which he discovered there was flaw in the articles of corporation of the company. This information he took to New York and imported to Jay Gould on condition that the latter would join with him in the construction of a railroad from the Pacific to St. Louis on property condemned by St. Louis and San Francisco. When the new company was incorporated Gould refused to take any inproject of building into this city from the Pacific and made a contract with Gould t

TOANO, V.A., June 11, 1886.

We were visited this morning about 3 o'clock by a terrible rain- and hall-storm, rooting up and flooding the growing crops, and prostrating fences and trees. In this vicinity the hall was very destructive, totally destroying watermelons and other delicate truck and splitting the corn into shreds. Corn is very grassy and small. Peanuts ditto. Spring oats are fine.

The shocks were accompanied by a rumbling sound, which appeared to come from the southeast. Houses were shaken and windows were rattied. The people who were awakened be the shocks were of different minds as a their cause. Some said they were due to an earthquake, while others attributed them to an explosion. If due to the latter cause the explosion must have occurred on a vissel at sea, as no land lies to the south-east. Two light-hips are in their proper positions and nothing has happened to them. A man-of-war is coming in from the southeast, but it is hirally probable that she would fire guns at midnight, or even if she had, the sound could not be heard or the concussion felt here. REVIEW OF THE CHICAGO MARRET.
CHICAGO, June 12.—in wheat to-day the market averaged and closed higher than yesterday. The starting price for July delivery was 74½c, but offerings from large "bear" operators caused a quick decline to 73½c, but a sharp raily to 74½c, followed on good buying. After railing steady for awhile a steady advance to 74½c, followed, with a reaction to 74½c, where the market reside for the day. Foreign advices quoted a dult and easy feeling. Crop reports were less encouraging, however, indicating large areas where drought is injuring the crops. Both corn and oats ruited stronger on bad crop reports and better demand. Provisions ruled firm and a snade higher.
